Stagnant Stop Light Petition To City Dads Soon

Requesting Council For Safety Device To Help Cross And Enter Busy Bremer

A resting petition that asks for a stop and go light at the intersections of Bremer Avenue and 9th Street NW will be formally presented at Waverly City Council meeting shortly after Jan. 1, the Trumpet learned this week.

The petition, which was circulated earlier this year by Mrs. Gertrude Stauffer, manager of the College Hill Pharmacy, is signed by a number of people from the college and Waverly community.

It was put in moth balls when the Iowa State Highway Department was considering by-passing the town of Waverly while remodeling Highway 218. The state reconsidered, and Mrs. Stauffer is going ahead with plans to present the petition, after mayor - elect Fred Gaylor takes office in January.

New Mayor Interested

Gaylor told the Trumpet Thursday that he is definitely interested in the traffic light issue, since it has been a thorn in the side of Wartburg College for several years. He indicated that he would appoint a committee to study the problem after he assumes his duties next month.

Waverly City Engineer Merritt Bushby reported that a committee of his had recommended a signal for the corner as early as 1954. The need for a safety device on the corner was cited by the Trumpet a year ago during the pre-holiday safety campaign. Since that time, with the circulation of Mrs. Stauffer's petition, it has snowballed into controversy among various members in city government.

Bremer Busy Crossing

Bremer Avenue, which doubles as Highways 3 and 218, bounds the main entrance to the college community of about eleven hundred people. The heavily traveled four-lane span also separates pedestrians from a much patronized coffee shop, drug store and self-service laundry.

Dean of Students Earnest Oppermann pointed out that there are well over three hundred cars owned by students, in addition to regular daily traffic into the college that uses the intersection as the primary outlet onto the highway.

"Where you have a community of eleven hundred people adjoining a highway, there ought to be a stop light," Oppermann said.

Money Is At Hand

Last year the Waverly City Council did appropriate $1,600 for a stop light at an unspecified location, according to the city engineer.

The placing of the signal at the 9th and Bremer intersection reportedly does not meet the approval of all members of the present administration of city fathers.

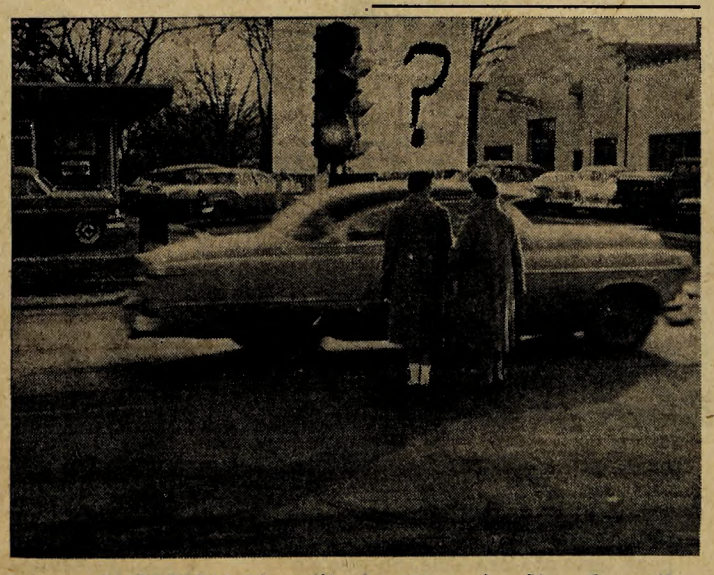
"What animosity there is to placing a stop light on this corner stems from the downtown district where people are unaware of what is going on on the hill," Mrs. Stauffer charged.

State Must Approve Too

Incumbent Mayor John de Neui explained that once the approval passed the vote of the council, it would have to be approved by the State, since the two middle lanes of the Highway are controlled by the State and the two outside lanes by the city of Waverly.

Although no fatal accidents are on record as yet for the intersection, recent accidents and near-accidents have caused Wartburg officials and Hill business people to become concerned and take action before tragedy strikes.

* * * * *



QUESTION IS, will the Waverly City Council approve this inserted spotlight at 9th and Bremer and thus consider safety of 11 hundred campus personnel? Two Wartburg coeds nearly find a clear time to cross busy Bremer. Only one car whizzes past intersection where often autos four-abreast make crossing hazardous and admittance of other cars from side streets impossible.

Debaters Battle At Neb. College

Wartburg debate team is at Nebraska State Teachers College today debating both sides of the proposition, "Resolved, That Congress be given power to reverse decisions of the Supreme Court."

Participating in the debate are freshman Jim Peters; sophomores Bill Goetz, Dallas Johnson, Al Putz and Mary Wilharm; juniors Bill Schroeder and Deanna Stob; and senior Dean Engbrecht.

Engbrecht, Goetz, Johnson and Miss Stob are entered in a discussion on the question "What should be the role of government in regulating organized labor?"

Entered in oratory are Johnson and Miss Wilharm, and in extemporaneous speaking, Goetz and Schroeder.

Three To Confab

Pres. C. H. Becker, Dr. Herbert Max and Dean of Students Earnest Oppermann will attend a teacher education conference at the University of Minnesota Dec. 10 and 11.

Theme of the conference will be "The Subject Matter Preparation of Elementary and Secondary School Teachers."

'Carousel' To Spin Sunday

ARLEN SCHWERIN, freshman, Art Baker, sophomore, and Karen Arns, freshman, rehearse a scene for Castle Singers' "Carousel." The Singers' rendition of Rodgers and Hammerstein's production will go on stage in Knights Gym tomorrow night and once more on Monday night under the direction of James Fritschel.

Festive and gala activities are the rule for this weekend.

It began with the Pi Sigma Winter Formal last night and will be climaxed by the Castle Singers' rendition of Rodgers and Hammerstein's Broadway musical "Carousel," under the direction of James Fritschel, new member of the Wartburg Music Department, on Sunday and Monday evenings.

The performance will include such song hits as "June Is Busting Out All Over," "If I Loved You," "I'll Never Walk Alone," "What's the Use of Wondering?" and others.

The Singers have expended much energy and long hours of time in rehearsal for the event. They have arranged several ballet and dance numbers to augment the vocal selections in addition to setting their artistic talents to designing an array of background sets.

Duane Nelson, president of the 50-voice musical group, says the presentation promises to be nothing short of "terrific."

Open to the public for a slight admission fee, curtain time for the performance has been set for 8 p.m.

Letter Lauding 'Open City' Gets Senate Nod Monday

Endorsement of a letter approving the "Open City" idea was primary on the agenda of the Student Senate meeting Monday evening. This letter was written by Roger Lageschulte, Student Body vice president, and addressed to Secretary of State Christian Herter.

The "Open City" idea was presented to the Wartburg students and faculty at convocation several weeks ago by Dr. Edmond Zawacki, head of the Department of Slavic Languages at the University of Wisconsin, in his address "A Cool Look at the Cold War." This idea essentially involves an exchange of Russian and American citizens, for mutual benefit, between cities of comparative size and social and economic status.

The advisability of moving Dress-up Night to Friday night, with the provision of changing it for special social events, was also discussed. It was felt the advantage of a change to Friday night would be having something more definite to dress up for.

The opinion, nevertheless, was stated that the present Wednesday night dress-up dinner breaks up the middle of the week monotony. A poll taken in the Senate favored keeping the present day.

As the result of a recommendation made by the Religious Activities Committee, the Senate voted to dissolve and integrate this committee into the various committees of the campus church.

Considerable discussion was also conducted on the constitution submitted by the North Hall Ambassadors to be formally recognized as an organization on campus. The Senate voted to recommend to the Faculty-Student Council, on which final action rests, that housing units not be allowed to organize.

Two Frosh Chosen For Europe Trip

Two Wartburg freshmen were selected this week to visit Europe next summer through the Lutheran World Federation youth exchange program.

Phil Truckenbrod, Winterset, and Karen Vogel, Phillipsburg, Kan., and six other students from the American Lutheran Church were announced delegates by the Rev. Chester Patton, ALC youth director.

The students were picked on the basis of Luther League activity. Phil, active on the Trumpet staff, is from the Iowa District and Karen, freshman Senator, represents the Central District.

Christmas At Wartburg Draws Nearer

Christmas at Wartburg plans are progressing rapidly as the Wartburg Band, Castle Singers and Choir make preparations for the program of praise and adoration, a gift of Wartburg College to the community.

Art students, under the direction of Miss Helen Wright, art instructor, are also uniting their efforts in projects for the service.

Sunday, Dec. 13, at 8 p.m. in Knights Gym, the service will begin with the central theme of "Angel Voices." Vernon Lestrud, Speech Department, will serve as reader for the event. Miss Myrna Lewis, Music Department, will present a violin solo.

Lestrud

Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus," featuring both the Band and the Choir, will be the finale under the direction of Robert C. Larson, Vocal Music Department. First combined rehearsal will be tomorrow after campus worship in the gym.

Three sections of the program — prophecy, proclamation and praise — will be interspersed in the Christmas service. From beginning to end, the service will feature no one group, but will be a service of continuity in which the musical groups will perform alternately, according to H. C. Engelbrecht, chairman of the committee in charge of Christmas at Wartburg.

"Video portion of the program is completely different," says Miss Wright. "The big problem is how everything will look in the gym, since all of it is being constructed in the smaller rooms of the Fine Arts building. If it weren't for the good temperament of my art students, I don't know what I'd do," she added.

Wright

Program covers, designed by sophomore Lonnie Hoffman, were printed on blue paper, which the art class will mount on the 1,800 programs to be distributed.

Advance publicity inviting congregations within a 50-mile radius of Waverly has been sent by public relations director Norm Fintel. Parents and friends of students are all invited to attend this expression of worship.

Next year the new chapel auditorium will house this event, at which time plans are to present two performances, since the attendance is usually quite large. Usual attendance is two thousand, according to Engelbrecht.

College B.A. You Receive May Be 'Bad Accident'

The motor vehicle has been on the American scene for little more than fifty years, yet in this relatively short period of time, it has achieved an important role in the lives of millions of individuals.

Trucks and buses play an integral part in our economy, and the family car has become a necessity rather than a luxury. All this in a relatively short period of time.

Regardless of the role of the motor vehicle in our economy and lives, motor vehicle traffic accidents rank among the leading causes of death in the United States. Nearly one and one-third million persons have lost their lives thus far in traffic accidents on the highways of the United States.

Another three to four million victims have suffered permanent injuries. Even on an annual basis, current losses in the area of traffic accidents are figured in the billions of dollars. Many authorities contend that these figures have even been held down.

The coming holiday season is met with a great deal of warmth and happiness by everyone. Friendship and cheer abound freely in all men at this most joyous time of year.

But wait a minute! Statistics show that you may not be around to enjoy the holiday season. Why? Because each year Christmas and the one-day holidays in the middle of the week prove to be the worst time to be on the highways. It is at this time the mortality rate of traffic accidents suddenly skyrocket.

Most statistics dealing with the causes of highway accidents place the responsibility on the driver in nine out of ten cases. The other one is split between the motor vehicle and the highway.

It is then a matter of record that every individual has definite limits on his driving ability, and his ability to judge accurately the speed and distance for passing are limited. His span of attention is limited also, meaning that his mind is not always on the road. These are some of the many reasons why nine out of every ten accidents are the fault of the driver.

Most people believe that it takes just about forever to get any place while doing 50 miles per hour. Yet figures show that of two drivers, one driving 50 miles per hour and the other 65 miles per hour in heavy traffic during a three-hundred-mile drive, the one doing 50 miles per hour will arrive only a few minutes after the other driver.

Imagine that! Just picture all the risk and waste of money on gas and oil for just a few, seemingly precious, minutes.

While on your journey home for the holiday season, plan to arrive safely. Remember, accidents are preventable, and "the life you save may be your own." Don't be a fatal statistic!

A driving questionnaire will be passed out in convo next week. We would like your help in accurately filling in the requested information.

Bowed Heads At Cafeteria Meals — Do They Represent Prayer Contact?

By James Thomas

Have you ever wondered about the phenomenon of praying during mealtime in the cafeteria? What would a stranger think of this act of bowing the head and then raising it again after a period of time?

Often one hears someone remark, "Did you count to 5 or to 10?"

Prayer during mealtime is supposed to be characterized by the inner "contact" of our hearts with God. It makes no difference whether it is by our recognition of God as giver of the food, by receiving the food with thankfulness, by hoping that God causes this food to be used for our sustenance or by simply being conscious of His presence.

Bowing Makes Contact

This makes bowing heads a method by which you let others know that they are to be quiet so that you can have "contact."

Brevity often does not make true prayer. There may be short cuts but not that short. One would not expect to make contact with a person on the telephone if he allowed only three seconds for him to answer, or if he had the receiver only half off the hook.

Contact Is Questionable

If a person has made "contact" with God by five seconds of prayer at the table or even in 15, I can not affirm or deny. One, however, should suggest that a continual "contact" by being ever conscious of God's presence is ideal.

Then praying "without ceasing" is not an absurdity.

We must admit that the "short ones" before and after the meals can be the most atrocious examples of mechanical meaninglessness which we often mistake for real conversations with our Maker.

Hypocrisy May Come

It is better at times not to go through the motions if we do not have the "contact" thereby. This way we aren't deceiving ourselves.

We must remember that prayer, whether at the table or otherwise, is the means to a greater source of power, which is God Himself.

Sin in general is a sign of no "contact." There isn't one of us who doesn't need to re-establish this contact. True it is that God is ever ready to have "contact" with us if we want Him. But it is even more comforting to know that He tries ever to contact us even though we do not seek Him.

Four Knights Are Named To Lutheran All-American

With the release of the December issue of ONE magazine came the release of the first Lutheran College Football All-American Team.

Claiming high honors from the Wartburg squad was Ron Krueger, senior from Waupun, Wis., who was selected to the first team in the tackle position.

The Lutheran College Football All-American Teams were picked by Bud Thies, a sports writer of 15 years with the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. The team was selected with the cooperation of coaches and athletic publicists of the 28 four-year Lutheran schools which play intercollegiate football.

Honors continued to be collected by Ott and Krueger this week as the two were named Honorable Mention during the voting for the Small College All-American squad by the Associated Press.

Of interest yet to the Knights will be the placings on the Williamson All-American squad and the N.A.I.A. squad which are still to be selected.

'Carousel' Slows IM Volleyball

Volleyball program slowed considerably last week as action was limited to two games.

Games regularly scheduled for Thursday were changed because of Castle Singers' rehearsal. Only two games could be played Monday night because of the change. The other three games will be played next Tuesday night, Dec. 8, according to Wayne Dreier, co-chairman of intramural volleyball.

Cotta, which dropped from the ranks of the unbeaten the week before, beat Grossmann III. Clinton III stayed winless by falling before Alpha.

Picking Up Splinters

By Chuck Jepsen

On Nov. 21, the Iowa Conference meeting was held in Cedar Rapids. At that meeting, Commissioner Les Duke announced the results of the voting for All-Conference honors.

First team players were as follows: Fee, Central, QB; Lewis, Iowa Wesleyan, HB; Geisler, Dubuque, HB; Hustad, Luther, FB; Nummerder, Central, E; Hunziker, Buena Vista, E; Rathje, Dubuque, E; Krueger, Wartburg, T; Dostal, Parsons, T; Follinett, Simpson, G; Van Gorp, Central, G; Peck, Dubuque, G; Jaacks, Buena Vista, C.

Larry Raper, Wartburg's hard-running fullback, gained a halfback spot on the second team, and Larry Collmann, center, was also named on the second unit.

The team selected is not representative of the top players in the conference, and points to an urgent need for revisions in the voting system. The Knights, champion of the league for the past two years, placed only one man on the first team, as did Luther, a near top finisher the past two seasons.

According to the present method of selection, each of the nine coaches in the conference votes for two players at each position, one for first team and one for second. Two points are awarded for each first team vote and one for each second team vote. No coach may vote for any player from his own team.

The omission of Wartburg's quarterback, Marv Ott, from both the first and second teams seems to be the greatest error in the selections. Ott, the All-Conference quarterback a year ago, had an even more brilliant season this year than last.

It appears evident that the present voting system leaves too much room for error. Either the coaches don't take their voting responsibility seriously, or else they are not familiar enough with the players they select.

One improvement would be to allow coaches to vote for members of their own teams. Why must a coach, if he feels that his own player was best at that position, be forced to go against his evaluation and vote for a player from another team? If voting for a coach's own players were permitted, undesired first and second votes would thus be omitted.

Honesty and accuracy of the balloting would improve if the voting would take place at a meeting of the conference coaches. At that meeting candidates for conference awards could be screened and then voted upon.

Another possibility is the naming of separate All-Conference offensive and defensive teams, because many members of this year's team saw only one-way action.

If the present system of one team is continued, the player's all-around ability should be taken into account.

A more drastic measure would be to remove the vote from the coaches and place it in the hands of persons who would give more extensive consideration to their choices.

The problem of revision of the voting method will undoubtedly come up at the spring conference meeting. Let's hope that out of this meeting will come a system of voting which will enable a more representative All-Conference team to be selected.

Hardcourt Season Started

Bundgaard's Cagers Face Gusties Tonight

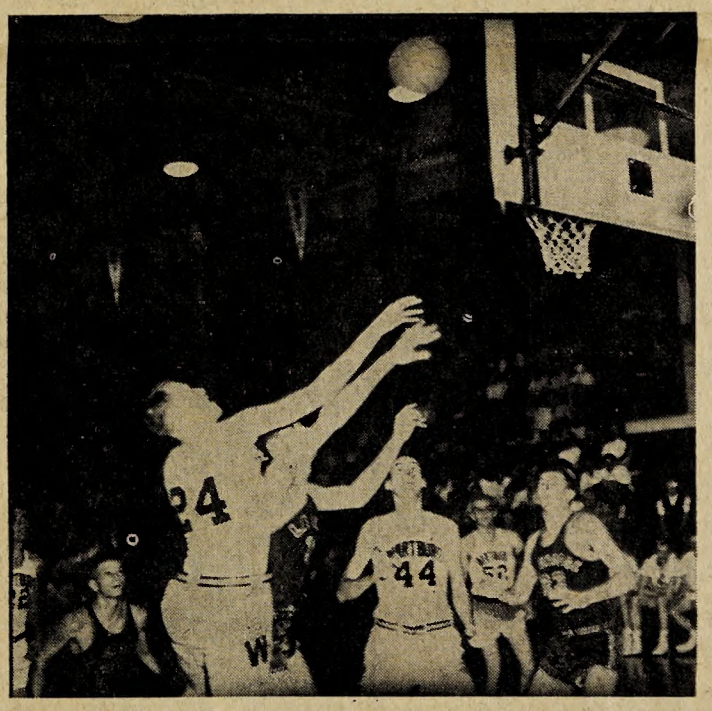
By Tom Kuckkahn

Wartburg's hoopsters will trek to St. Peter, Minn., tonight to take on Gustavus Adolphus College in a non-conference affair.

The game, with tip-off time slated for 7:30, will be the first of the season for the Gusties. The Knights already have one contest under their belts.

Last season the Gusties compiled an unimpressive 12-13 overall record with a predominantly senior team. This year's team comprises mostly sophomores and juniors, The Gusties' big problem will be replacing last year's top three scorers, who were lost via graduation.

"Whitey Skoog," former Minnesota and Minneapolis Laker star, is currently at the helm and will probably have his squad fired up for its first game. Wartburg mentor, Dr. Ax Bundgaard, most likely will try all of his charges in an attempt to come up with an effective starting line-up for next Saturday's conference opener against Iowa Wesleyan.



UP FOR TWO POINTS goes Knight soph Don Hein while helping his teammates erase La Crosse State 69-52 in the season opener this week. John Tuecke waits for the rebound, but hot-shooting Hein made it, after coming off bench to spark Knights' first win.

* * * * * * * * * *

Knight Frosh Tip Oelwein Indees

Wartburg Squires rolled over Oelwein Independents 83-54 Tuesday to open their 1959-60 basketball season.

The freshman team held a 40-20 half-time lead, and clicked efficiently during the second period to build up its lead and win with ease. Harken and Brunscheen with 16 points each and Green with 14 topped the Squires in the scoring column.

Coach Wendell Liemohn has 18 members on his squad out to face a 14-game slate. The freshmen will play before most of the Knight home games and will start games at 5:45 p.m.

LaCrosse First Knight Victim

Wartburg's basketball team opened its season successfully Tuesday night by downing the LaCrosse State (Wis.) Indians 69-52. The game was a non-conference affair.

Coach Ax Bundgaard started the mainstays of last year's Iowa Conference championship squad, John Tuecke, Norm Remmers, John Mehlhaus, Dave Jensen and Dar Ochlerich.

Combination Fails

This combination failed to click effectively in the early minutes, so soph Don Hein came off the bench and tossed in 14 points to pace the Knights to a 33-25 half-time lead.

Both teams shot poorly and played a shoddy brand of ball throughout the evening. Wartburg won because the Knights out-rebounded the Indians and also because they were more accurate from the free-throw line.

Knights Not So Foul

The Knights committed only 13 fouls, whereas the Indians were charged with 25. The Knights were not hot from the field, shooting only 23 per cent, but from the charity line they dumped 25 of 37 shots.

Hein was a pleasant surprise for Bundgaard as he scored 20 points and rebounded well. Tuecke, last year's team scoring leader, tallied 19 points.

Lineman Of The Year

Trumpet's final selection for the football season was Ron Krueger as Lineman of the Year.

Ron, a senior from Waupun, Wis., was selected by the panel for his outstanding play as guard throughout the season as Wartburg piled up an 8-1 overall record and won the conference for the second straight year.

Krueger received four out of the five possible votes cast by the panel. Don Sowers, sophomore from Sumner, received the other vote.

Ron was also selected on the All-Conference team and on the All-Lutheran team.

Matmen Are In Training

Wartburg's wrestlers settled down to hard work this week as they prepare for the busy schedule ahead.

Coach Norm Johansen reports that only three lettermen are back on this year's squad of around sixteen men. They are Alan Hassman, sophomore from New Hampton; Roger Hildebrandt, junior from Waverly; and John Sternberg, junior from Traer.

The first scheduled meet isn't until Jan. 9 with Augustana, but some of the squad will represent Wartburg at the AAU meet in Cedar Falls this Saturday, according to Johansen.

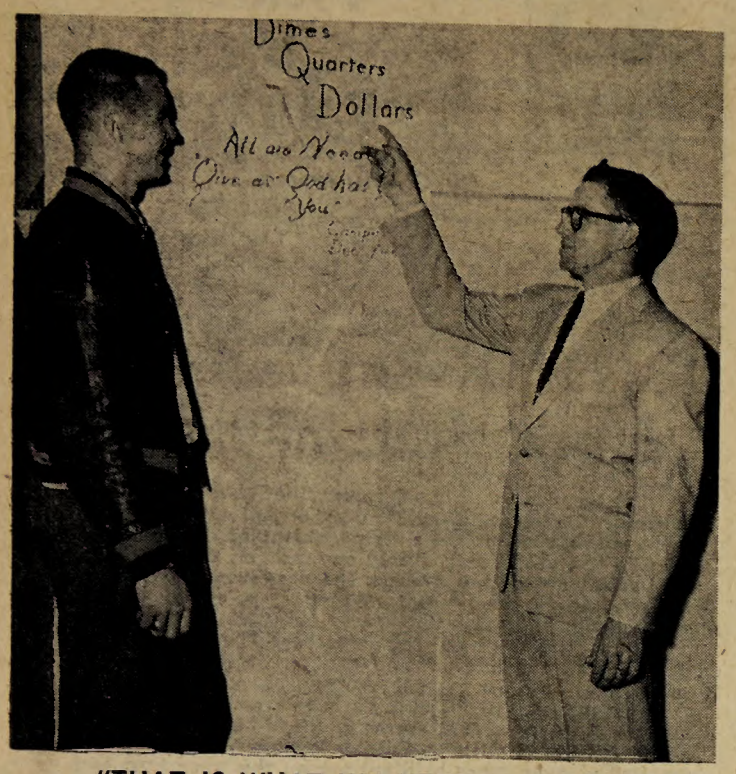
'Give As Given You'



"THAT IS WHAT WE NEED," says Ron Freimark, senior, and chairman of this week's Campus Chest drive, as he points to the dollar on the sign. Subject of this solicitation was sophomore Ken Joens. Freimark reported favorable returns for the drive which started Tuesday and ended last night.

Campus Church To Be Consecrated

A Consecration Service marking the official beginning of the Wartburg student congregation will be held Dec. 13. Dr. H. W. Siefkes, president of the Iowa District of the American Lutheran Church, will be the speaker at this service.

President C. H. Becker and Dr. W. F. Schmidt, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Waverly, will participate in the service. The Wartburg Choir will also sing.

"At the Consecration Service the members will be formally admitted into membership," stated Pastor Herman Diers, college chaplain, "whereas previously the students have only made a declaration of preference for membership.

"The church council and members of the five committees appointed by the council will also be installed. These committees are on worship, evangelism, Christian life. Christian growth and finance,"

Forum, Schmidt On Convo Agenda

An open forum is on the agenda for the Student Body meeting at Tuesday's convocation.

If you are a student with a question about anything, you will have the opportunity to direct your question to anyone you wish.

This open forum will follow a report on the Campus Chest, a Pops Concert report and a discussion concerning the Student Body project.

Dr. Karl Schmidt, head of the Wartburg Christianity Department, will speak at Thursday's convocation. He has chosen as his topic "Where Is Your God?," which will be based on the background of Psalm 42.

Wartburg Will Host Education Seminar

Wartburg will host a seminar on teacher education, Tuesday, Dec. 8.

Sponsored by the Iowa Teacher Education and Professional Standards Committee, the seminar will draw delegations from most of the junior and senior colleges of northeast Iowa.

Areas under discussion, according to the head of the Education Department, Dr. Herbert Max, will be art, music, home economics, industrial arts, business education and physical education.

Choir LP Record Available Dec. 15

A new long-play record by the Wartburg Choir is expected to be available by Dec. 15, according to Dr. Edwin Liemohn, Choir director.

Presently being processed by the Decca Record Company, the Choir's newest release features numbers sung on last summer's European tour. Included are "Mary Had a Baby," "Be Not Afraid," "Hodie Christus Natus Est" and other selections.

Record orders will be taken now at the Music Department office, according to Dr. Liemohn.

KWAR Presents Christmas Treat

"United Nations Day Concert," a special Christmas program, will be broadcast tomorrow at 2:30 p.m., Arlow Bice, program director of KWAR, announced this week.

Ninety minutes in length, the program features recorded music from Moscow, Geneva and the United Nations, New York City.

In addition, "Christmas Is!," a series of six 15-minute transcriptions of Christmas music and meditation, began broadcasting from KWAR last Tuesday, said Bice.

Produced by the Upper Room Radio Parish, these programs are being presented at 9:45 every Tuesday and Thursday until Dec. 17.

Bice also announced that KWAR is broadcasting all home basketball games. Broadcasts will begin at 7:15 p.m.

Coming soon on KWAR is a special program commemorating German poet Friedrich Schiller, featuring his music, poetry and plays. A definite date has not yet been set, but he will be programmed before Christmas vacation, according to the program director.

Wandering With Wandersee

By Winnie

Well, everyone and everything got back in the groove this week. (Cheers) In between a generously spread array of tests a few clubs were still able to meet.

★ ★ ★ ★

The Young Republicans met last Thursday in Clinton Hall Lounge. The priest from the local hospital spoke on 'The Allegiance of a Catholic President." Sort of a Counter-Reformation Movement after our convo last Tuesday?

★ ★ ★ ★

Science Club met on Wednesday night. W. A. Christiansen, safety director for the Iowa Public Service, spoke on "Rescue Breathing." A film was also shown in this connection.

★ ★ ★ ★

One last plug — don't forget "Carousel" tomorrow night. You owe it to yourself. The weekend's almost over. (Shudder)

Here's a coming event that has almost come. The Business Students will be meeting this Monday, Dec. 7, at 7 p.m. in Wartburg Hall Lounge.

Philip Rausch, president of the Home Savings and Loan Association of Waterloo, will speak on "The Policies of a Savings and Loan Association Concerning Loans." (Yeah).

This is a very important meeting! . . . and besides that, refreshments will be served.

Just to end in that "'tis-the-season-to-be-jolly" spirit, did everyone have fun at the Pi Sigma Christmas Ball? If not, you probably didn't go, and that means you really goofed. Meanwhile the rest of us will be in a gay, festive mood for the next two weeks. (Well, it's a thought.)

Six Talk Turkey Over Recent Vacation

One wedding and two engagements headline the late November romantic scene.

Married on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 26, in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Waverly, were junior Robert Hesterberg of Gifford, Ill., and Norma Orth of Waverly. The couple is now living in the college trailer court.

Sophomore Winnie Wandersee, Minneapolis, became engaged to Perry Bolin of Waverly. A June wedding is planned.
